Varsity Hopes to Improve Bay Standing on Armistice Day

It is to be expected that Torrance will whip El Segundo when they meet Thursday afternoon, Armistice Day, at Leuzinger Stadium. But look out! Torrance was also expected to trim Inglewood, remember? They lost, 25-6.

Overconfidence was blamed for the Tartar's lack of fight that they displayed in the Jordan game the week before. A similar situation exists this weekend with El Segundo. The hapless beachdwellers have failed to win a game this season. The Torrance varsity knows this. They also know that they have defeated a couple of the teams that have whipped El Segundo. It is therefore a foregone conclusion that Torrance will take El Segundo. However, more than one game has been lost in the dressing room.

If Torrance does lose to El Segundo that is exactly where it will be lost—in the Tartar's dressing room. El Segundo just simply does not have the material with which to field a team against the stiff competition of the power-laden Bay League. El Segundo is a school smaller than Torrance with an enrollment of approximately 600 students. Santa Monica has nearly four times that many.

If the first string can establish any kind of a lead over El Segundo it would not be surprising to find Coach Eddie Cole using a string of his number two boys. This would be a wise move for several reasons. Some of his juniors would gain a little experience and of course there is Redondo next week and the possibility of having a few first stringers on the injured list for that game would not enlighten the spirits of any Tartar follower. Using second stringers also would prevent Coach Cole from being accused (unjustly we feel) as he was of "pouring it on" two of the teams the Varsity has beaten this year.

A win for Torrance would move them up from fifth place in the Bay League Standings to a two-possibly a three-way tie for fourth place. It would depend on how Jordan makes out against Leuzinger and the outcome of the Beverly-Redondo game.

Prognosticators

New Vocation Is Suggested

If Ray Rogers can pick horses like he can pick football games, he should!

With but two games remaining for Torrance it appears that Rogers will have to do some wild picking and the prognosticators some fancy calling to unseat Rogers from the throne he has occupied for the last five weeks.

Last week for the Torrance-Leuzinger game which the Tartars won, 18-0, the nine grandstand quarterbacks each said the game would end as the following chart indicates. The

	Toz.	Leuz.	Diff.	Total
Rogers	12	6	6	50
Shidler	2	16	14	82
Tolson Jr.	11	4	7	84
Briggs	13	5	8	91
Turner	6	12	6	97
Isbell	6	12	6	99
Willett	6	12	6	105
Stroh	2	20	18	120
Baldwin	2	16	14	135

This Thursday, Torrance, with two wins and three defeats in Bay League competition meets the yet-to-win-a-game El Segundo squad. The nine prognosticators are calling the contest like this.

	Torrance	El Segundo
Shidler	30	—
Isbell	25	—
Tolson Jr.	24	—
Turner	20	—
Stroh	19	—
Rogers	19	—
Briggs	19	—
Willett	6	—
Baldwin	—	1
